"Caldwell cunningly transforms from overwhelmed mom to "Terminator"-tough super-parent."
-Los Angeles Times

"Caldwell's ruthless Lady Macbeth villainy...is particularly memorable."
-Daily Variety

"Caldwell leaves no doubt, though, about Genevra's diabolical capabilities...The glint in her eye will seem familiar to anyone who watches boxing matches or hockey fights."
-The Orange County Register

"As conjoined twins who might have dropped in from a road company of Side Show, Pat Caldwell...evoke(s) both humor and poignancy in (her) madcap travail ranging from carnival exploitation to servitude to a con-man evangelist."
-Back Stage West

"Of the secondary plots, the story of conjoined twins works best due to a superb performance from Pat Caldwell..."
-LA Weekly

"Maria (Pat Caldwell), the angry, wraithlike child who becomes the inevitable rape victim ...is fiercely, nakedly naturalistic, raw in every sense of the word."
-Chicago Tribune

"Finally there is Maria (the wraithlike Pat Caldwell in a scarily neurotic portrayal), a deeply disturbed girl...created a stunningly theatrical coup."
-Chicago Sun-Times
